

Andrés Correa

attorney at law

Andrés Correa graduated summa cum laude from the University of Texas at Dallas in 2005 as part of the inaugural class of the Eugene McDermott Scholars. In 2008, he earned a J.D., cum laude, from New York University School of Law. While attending law school, Andrés served as an Articles Editor on the Law Review, a term-time clerk for the Honorable Richard J. Holwell of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, Co-Chair of the Latino Law Students Association, and President of the Mock Trial Team. Andrés also received a number of awards for written and oral advocacy and academic achievement.

Before joining Lynn Tillotson Pinker & Cox, LLP, Andrés practiced law in the New York office of Cravath, Swaine & Moore L.L.P., where he worked on matters involving noncompete agreements and trade secret misappropriation, an internal investigation of a major pharmaceutical company, and “foreign-cubed” securities litigation.

Andrés is licensed to practice law in New York and Texas, is admitted to practice before the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas. He is a native of Chile and is married to Claudia Vargas.
