Trey Cox has been helping his clients resolve large, complicated, and often high-profile business disputes for nearly 20 years. His jury trial experience and courtroom success have earned him the distinction of being double Board Certified by the National Board of Trial Advocacy. Trey represents Fortune 500 corporations, entrepreneurs and leading firms in a wide array of industries. “We have built our firm on a singular pursuit of courtroom excellence in the service of our clients,” he says.

His dedication to his clients and winning track record have repeatedly earned him recognition as one of the top trial lawyers in the country:

- Honored as a “Leader in His Field” in Chambers & Partners’ Chambers USA Guide to Leading Lawyers – General Commercial Litigation (Texas), 2009-2011
- Listed with Best Lawyers® in America, 2009-2011
- Listed as a “Texas Super Lawyer” by Law & Politics (as seen in Texas Monthly), 2004-2011
- Selected by The Dallas Business Journal as a “Defender” in 2008, and “One of the 10 Metroplex Litigators Worth Having on Your Side”
- Recognized by his peers in D Magazine as a “Best Lawyer Under 40” for five consecutive years
- AV-rated by Martindale-Hubbell
- Named one of the “Best and Brightest Business Leaders” in The Dallas Business Journal’s “40 Under 40” survey

Progressive and innovative, Trey has earned a reputation as a pioneer in combining technology and neuroscience to maximize jury communication and persuasion. He serves on the faculty of Southern Methodist University Law School and the National Institute for Trial Advocacy. He has lectured throughout the country, and authored numerous legal articles, white papers and books. He is married to Erin Nealy Cox, the head of the digital forensic firm Stroz Friedberg’s Dallas office, and is the father of three daughters. Trey received a B.A., magna cum laude, from Washington & Lee University, and his J.D., with honors, from the University of Virginia School of Law.
