Chelsea Till has a wide range of experience across industries and practice areas with expertise in the Labor and Employment and commercial airline spaces.

Chelsea thrives when she's on her feet, whether arguing hearings, examining witnesses at trial, or taking depositions. She recently won a 4.25 million dollar judgment against the Texas Education Agency in a bench trial and a total defense verdict in a jury trial on behalf of a regional airline. Chelsea also routinely represents airlines in labor arbitrations as first chair and has an undefeated track record.

Prior to joining LPHS, Chelsea was a trial attorney at Jones Day. She has contributed to several publications and is highly committed to her pro bono work, including winning asylum for a Venezuelan family and a female college student from Afghanistan.

Chelsea graduated summa cum laude from Texas A&M University with a B.B.A. in Business Honors and Business Management and went on to receive her J.D. from SMU Dedman School of Law, where she graduated summa cum laude and Order of the Coif as third in her class. While at SMU Chelsea was a member of the Law Review Association and Editor of the Air Law Symposium.

Outside of work, Chelsea enjoys spending time with her two dogs Maudie and Grace, golfing, scuba diving, and glass blowing. Chelsea is also an avid traveler, having visited over 30 countries in the past decade alone.
